Recommendation Letter

Zhassulan Serikuly joined Zerone Technology on 11 January 2021 as a Software Engineer. During his time with us, he demonstrated a strong ability to learn, a responsible attitude toward his work, and a systematic approach to solving technical problems.

Zhassulan contributed to commercial web projects using React, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, and GSAP.js. He developed reusable frontend components, implemented responsive interfaces and web animations, and participated in debugging and improving existing applications. He quickly adapted to our codebase and consistently delivered assigned tasks within agreed deadlines.

In addition to his technical contributions, Zhassulan also demonstrated a thoughtful approach to software development and problem-solving. He was able to analyze requirements, discuss implementation details with more experienced colleagues, and effectively incorporate technical feedback into his work. His attention to code quality and willingness to understand the reasoning behind engineering decisions distinguished him as a promising developer at an early stage of his career.

Overall, Zhassulan proved to be a reliable and motivated developer who approached his responsibilities with professionalism and demonstrated strong potential for continued professional growth. Based on his technical abilities, analytical approach, and contribution to our projects, I am pleased to recommend him for Software Engineer positions.
